

CPD EVENING TECHNICAL SEMINAR

“Keep at 25.5°C for a Green City”

22 May 2008, Thursday

Keep at 25.5°C for a Green City

The Hong Kong government released a guideline in late 2005 encouraged public to set the room temperature in air-conditioned premises at 25.5°C. The temperature guidelines and thermal comfort policy could help to increase public awareness and encourage good habits for air-conditioning operation. It should prevent energy wastage, loss of productivity and discomfortness to people in air-conditioned space.

However, some people find it difficult to apply this temperature to all types of airconditioned spaces to ensure the occupants feel comfortable and are satisfied. With increasing public awareness on Environmental Protection & “Green Lifestyle”, is 25.5°C fit for our facility & Workplace?

We have invited representatives from the ASHRAE Hong Kong Chapter, EMSD and Facility Practitioners to share with us their expert advice, policy thinking and practical experience.
