

INVITATION TO STUDENT EVENT

The HK Chapter of IFMA BBQ at HSBC Sky Garden on Saturday 8 May 2010

Sky Garden located at the roof of the HSBC Building Mongkok, it not only emphasizes on four environmental sectors which are water, waste, energy and CO2, but also encourage application of environmental innovations and micro renewable technologies.

Green roofs bring many environmental benefits which are often neglected or misunderstood. Making use of the numerous vacant roof tops in Hong Kong will significantly increase the green space stock of the city which will have positive effects on the environment, especially in ameliorating the harsh urban climate. However, the methods of green roof construction and maintenance are not too well grasped by local developers and professionals. Sky Garden shall be an exemplary green roof will demonstrate its feasibility and the associated methodology.

The extensive green roof presentation will mainly focus on green roof maintenance, which is always the main concern for designers. The audience will be amazed to know how minimal maintenance is required if the correct methods and vegetation are used.
